

DIMA Case Study

Partner Organization: Andragoški center Republike Slovenije

Country:
Slovenia

Date: 19. 6. 2017

Author of case study (stakeholder's name and subject/ age, gender, professional background) and contact for further information:

Tanja Čelebič, woman, educational system analyst, born 1976; University degree in pedagogy and geography (University of Ljubljana), Master's degree in Economy (University of Ljubljana);

Employment: IMAD - The Institute of Macroeconomic Analysis and Development of the Republic of Slovenia;

Telephone: +386 1 478 10 38

Email: tanja.celebic@gov.si

Summary: During the pilot testing implementation phase, case studies were prepared to showcase the successes and challenges of the DIMA toolkit and modules.

Brief summary of what the case study covers.

Since my work covers various types of analyses in different fields of research (educational system in general and particularly adult education system, statistical data analyses) and collaboration in strategic development and policy making processes, I have used the DIMA toolkit as an instrument for evaluation of my work:

- 🕒 in what sense and to what extent does it fit to my approach towards strategic thinking;
- 🕒 are there levels and subjects or stakeholders enclosed in the toolkit I might overlooked or skipped;
- 🕒 did I always bear in mind all elements necessary when designing all phases of implementation process?

I have found out that there are some phases enclosed in the toolkit that I have not consider in my strategic thinking so far. In this respect I have found it very useful.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Be aware of policy objectives in the Adult Education Sector;</li> <li>- Consult stakeholders regarding relative priority of SMART Objectives;</li> <li>- State SMART Objectives according to SMART principles</li> </ul>
Short description as to why they got involved as a pilot user DIMA project (motivation) :	I decided to cooperate for several reasons. The theme (policy strategy in the field of adult education) is very interesting. It seemed to me that the extra knowledge I would have gained was useful for my work. I decided to participate in the pilot project because I could give feedback and get acquainted with the project even before its conclusion. It is always good that before the completion of the project, people who did not participate in the project look at the content.